A POSTER.

Where to do Some Effective Work in Advertising Albuquerque.

J. C. Hutchinson, a much traveled and well informed gentleman from New York, arrived from the north last night and is at the European. He comes to the southwest to escape the rigor of the Atlantic seaboard winter and at the same time to investigate and report on the relative advantages of New Mexico, Arizona and California for certain business ventures which three friends of his in the east desire to engage in. He expressed himself as being in love with the general sunshines of this portion of New Mexico, and is also very favorably impressed with the many advantages of location, the air of enterprise and the outlook of Albuquerque. In a conversation with the gentleman regarding the condition of affairs comparatively in New Mexico and the east he remarked:

"The farmers of the New England states have received during the past year greater prices for their products than for years before, and are consequently in a prosperous condition but in the manufacturing towns there is simply paralysis. Tens of thousands of men have been thrown out of employment by the closing down of manufactures, and thousands of families are destitute. The policy of the administration promises nothing encouraging for manufacturing industries and thousands of former employees in New England will be forced to engage in other business."

L. S. LAND COURT
Resume of the Business Done at the Recent Session.

New Mexico.

The U. S. court of private land claims which closed a three week session here yesterday made excellent progress, as usual, toward the momentous end of adjusting and settling land titles in New Mexico. Thirteen grants were tried and submitted, and in ten of these decisions were rendered, the remaining three being yet before the court, two, Nos. 32 and 52, for additional testimony, and No. 46, the Gervasio Nolan grant, claim for 600,000 acres in Mora county, having been taken under advisement until next term. The following grants were confirmed by court:

No. 86—Juan de Gabaldon grant, 11,619.56 acres, six miles north of Santa Fe. B. T. Catron, claimant.

No. 2—Plaza Colorado Colony grant, 16,280 acres in Rio Arriba county, J. M. Hayes et al., claimants.

No. 340—Juan Jose Lobato grant, 100,000 acres in Rio Arriba county, J. J. Martinez et al., claimants.

No. 51 and 101—Elena Gallegos grant and Los Ranchos tract, 700,000 acres in Bernallillo county, D. Gurule, T. C. Gutierrez, et al., claimants.

No. 56—Gutiérrez grant, 224,770.13 acres in Socorro county, Felipe Ruiz and Tomas Cordova, claimants.

Total confirmed 425,000.60 acres.

The court adjourned three grants as follows: No. 32—Santa Teresa de Jesus grant for 300 acres in Bernallillo county; Clinton N. Cotton, claimant.

No. 66—Bosque Grande grant, one square league, about 12,000 acres in Bernallillo county, D. Gurule, T. C. Gutierrez, et al., claimants.

No. 37—Antonio Chavez grant, 130,188.91 acres in Socorro county, Martin B. Hayes, claimant.

Total area which failed of confirmation 145,137 acres.

The court opens a ten days session at Tucson, A. T., on Monday next, when the Los Negales de Elias grant will be called for trial. Hon. F. L. Parker, of St. Louis, will assist the U. S. attorney in prosecuting this case. The San Rafael de Valle grant will also be tried at Tucson. The state of New Mexico has the grandest of opportunities by not making a better showing for herself at the World's Fair.

"Thousands of people who find their occupation gone in the east will come here to locate and to invest their savings; industrial made cautious by the instability of many other sources of investment, will seek investment in irrigating canals and in the development of your wondrous natural resources. Now is the time for your people to advertise your town and country. New Mexico missed the grandest of opportunities by not making a better showing for herself at the World's Fair. California did more wisely. That state had an exhibit which elicited the wonder and admiration of the world, and it is now reaping and will continue to reap the benefit of it. New Mexico is a grand country; it has a climate which beats the world and you will do well to let the world know it during these hard times of discontent, when there are so many people, particularly in the east, who desire to change their location and who are looking out to better their condition."
